How could these benefits help me?

You've worked hard to build a life that matters to you. The financial impact of a hospital stay, planned or not, can upend that hard work without the right protections in place. Yes, health insurance will help cover your medical costs. But these benefits help provide an added layer of financial protection with a cash benefit in the event of a hospital stay, like after childbirth or during recovery from surgery. You can use the cash for anything, including:

Medical deductibles

In-home help

Housing

Groceries

You can't always predict a hospital stay, but you can plan for it. Whether an unexpected accident or a planned event, like childbirth, requires you to stay in the hospital for an extended period—you don't have to face it without a financial safety net.
